

White Pearl is now WPTG.ai. Here is why.

Dear fellow shareholder,

This morning we changed our name. White Pearl Technology Group is now WPTG.ai, and our new home on the internet is wptg.ai. If you have a minute, quite literally, there is a 52-second film on the site that tells the whole story. I would start there.

Let me tell you what has not changed, because that is the part that matters most to you. The company you own shares in is the same company, with the same registration, the same listing and the same audited numbers. In 2025 we earned SEK 510.5 million in revenue, up 65 percent on the year before. We are 44 companies, working in 24 countries, with 925 specialists. None of that changed overnight. Your shares are exactly what they were on Friday.

So why change the name? Because the old one described what we were, not what we have become. White Pearl grew as a group of many companies. Good companies, but each with its own name, its own story, and its own front door. Over the past years we have knitted them into one thing: a single platform that builds AI and puts it to work, across 24 countries and 5 continents. The new name says that plainly. WPTG.ai. A global AI technology platform.

Most enterprise AI stops at the pilot. Ours runs in production, in 24 countries, under contract.

That sentence sits on our new homepage because it is the whole point. It is not a slogan we wrote first and hoped to live up to later. It describes work that is already running, for customers who already pay for it.

At the centre of the new site you will find what we call the AI Factory. It is our way of showing, in plain terms, how the platform fits together, from the computers underneath to the results our customers see, with one system, OneBrain, running through all of it. I encourage you to have a look. It is written for people, not for engineers.

Thank you for being on this journey with us. The name is new. The direction has never been clearer.

Warm regards,

Ebrahim Laher
